

"Discussions of Research in Ecological Psychology"

TIME: Saturday, September 26, 1981

PLACE: Trinity College, Hartford Connecticut 06106

Anyone with an interest in exploring Ecological Psychology is welcome to attend. The meeting will be informal. Presentations will focus on research.

Morning Session

8:00 - 9:30 Arrival and refreshments (coffee and donuts will be provided)

9:30 - 10:00 Paper: "Naturalistic and experimental studies of auditory perceptual specificity in ducklings" David B. Miller, University of Connecticut

10:00 - 10:15 Discussion

10:15 - 10:45 Paper: "Dynamic cues for fricative voicing" Sig Soli, University of Maryland

10:45 - 11:00 Discussion

11:00 - 11:30 Paper: "The decline and fall of ipsilateral suppression: Speech and hemisphere differences" Terry Halwes, Haskins Laboratory

11:30 - 11:45 Discussion

11:45 - 1:00 Lunch break. Trinity will make a cafeteria-style lunch available for a small fee. Guests are welcome to bring a "brown bag" lunch with them.

Afternoon Session

1:00 - 1:30 Paper: "On the validity of the memory laboratory" David Gorfein and Jeanne Viviani, Adelphi University

1:30 - 1:45 Discussion

1:45 - 2:15 Paper: "An ecological analysis of infant characteristics as elicitors of adult caregiving" Thomas Alley, University of Connecticut

2:15 - 2:30 Discussion

2:30 - 3:00 Paper: "On faces" Claudia Carello, SUNY Binghamton .

3:00 - 3:15 Discussion

3:15 - 3:45 Paper: "Coarticulation in action sequences" Edward Cochran, Adelphi University

3:45 - 4:00 Discussion

4:00 - ? Informal discussion of the needs of researchers

There may be informal gatherings after the meeting for further discussions over dinner. A listing of local restaurants will be made available. Guests are encouraged to consider for debate issues related to the needs of researchers. What can we do to promote the field? How can we help one another? How should we organize?

For further information contact:

Robert R. Hoffman
Department of Psychology
Adelphi University
Garden City NY 11530
516-294-8700 ex. 7484

William Mace
Department of Psychology
Trinity College
Hartford, Connecticut 06106
203-527-3151 ex.334

Notice to Participants: Visual aids will be available, however we recommend you bring prepared handouts to save time. We expect between 50 and 75 people at the meeting.

Other News: We hope to arrange a meeting for early Spring, similar to the forthcoming Trinity meeting. Suggestions welcome.